Board Discusses Concerns over Sutton Valley Project

By Alex G. Belisle

SUTTON - The Selectmen's first meeting of the new year on January 7 began with all board members in attendance.

Board Chairman David Strieby began the "Workshop" section of the meeting with an announcement that Town Assessor Pat Nedoroscik was appointed to the Executive Board of the Worcester County Board of Assessors. The board agreed to send her a letter recognizing her appointment.

Strieby then notified his colleagues that the Board of Health, following a reorganization, would now be meeting on the second and fourth Mondays of each month.

Sutton Valley Corp.

The selectmen expressed strong disapproval with the fact that they were served summonses by the Sheriff's Office last week as part of an action taken by Granger-Lynch Corporation against Sutton Valley Corporation, developers of a subdivision under construction off Hartness Road.

According to Town Administrator Dexter Blois, Sutton Valley Corp. failed to pay Granger-Lynch $23,000 for asphalt and grader rental charges. Granger-Lynch is seeking to recover that money from a $90,000 cash performance bond which Sutton Valley had to post with the town. Blois told the selectmen that they would not have to go to court and that the summons was "just a notice." "The intent (of Granger-Lynch) is to be first in line when and if the bond is released," Blois said.

Selectman Wally Johnson asked if this meant that the town would lose $23,000 of the $90,000 bond should Sutton have to call the bond to complete the resurfacing of the streets. He expressed strong objection to that because, he said, the amount of the bond may not be enough to complete resurfacing should that be required.

Blois told the board that, in the event that Sutton had to call the bond to correct the road problems, it is his understanding that Granger-Lynch could only recover the portion of the $90,000 which Sutton had not used. He explained that Granger-Lynch is asking to be first in line to recover when the bond is released and that Sutton would not release the bond until after it had corrected any problems, should they occur.

The discussion about the summonses resurrected old objections, concerns, and dissatisfaction with the performance of the developer in excavating and refinishing Hartness, Leland Hill, and McLellan Roads.

Selectman Michael Chizy made a motion, which was passed unanimously, that Sutton Valley Corp. repay Sutton any funds which it will have to pay for legal obligations that are expended by the town in dealing with this matter.

"These developers come in here, and the time they take of our town employees and our townspeople to accommodate them is disgusting," Johnson said. He went on saying that Blois, Dick Wharton (Town Engineer) and Ray Smith (Town Surveyor) have to spend time making sure that the developers comply with regulations. "Years ago there was never a problem," he added. "They put in sewerage down Boston Road - all over - never had these problems. Why are we getting them now? I maintain that something serious has to be done." He went on to say that the condition of the roads is deplorable, making it unpleasant for area residents and disturbing them and the officials who have to respond to residents' complaints. "If I had my way about it, that would be the end of the job. Fix the road; say goodbye."

Chizy added, "They have not done one thing on that road that they would say they would do. The last piece of paper that we have said they were going to do certain things (Chizy was referring to the list of conditions which Blois had Lester Valente, Project manager for Kalkunte Engineering, agree to in order to be allowed a day-to-day extension beyond the December 15 deadline); they haven't done one blessed thing, and yet this board keeps giving them permission to go ahead. So why should they do anything; why should they do a good job?"

Johnson added that residents are denied mail and paper delivery as well as other services.

Blois explained that the problems which exist will persist until the road construction is complete. He said the problems are due in large part because of the weather which has been unseasonably warm, allowing for the road to thaw then refreeze. He said there are no problems when the road is frozen but when the road thaws, it becomes very muddy. He added that though the winter weather aggravates the problem, it will persist as long as construction is going on because the road is only a few feet higher than the water table and the road's subsurface is impervious material which does not allow for the water to drain off. Consequently, when it rains, the road becomes mired in mud.

Board member Mary K Connor noted that the board has given Blois, Wharton and Smith authority over the project. She said there are two issues that are not related - the weather and job performance. "If job performance is not up to par - I don't care if it's July 1, then it (construction) should be stopped," she said.

Blois explained that the problem was going to be the same no matter when the construction occurs because the water table is two feet below road level. He said Smith visits the site two or three times a day, and noted that until drainage is put in the road, the thawing and freezing action will create a problem.

SUTTON - Police are still investigating the cause of an accident on January 10 along Route 146 that left a 24-year old Worcester man injured. Joseph J. Rutkievich of Mayfield Street, Worcester, was listed in good condition at the University of Massachusetts Hospital where he was taken by ambulance.

The flatbed truck Rutkievich was driving north along Route 146, crashed into a bridge abutment after traveling 600 to 800 feet along a median strip, going over an embankment between the north and southbound lanes, and crossing Mendon Road. No charges have been filed against Rutkievich at this time. Officer Ronald Benoit, Sr. is the investigating officer.

Challenges School Department Chart

To the Editor:

The Millbury-Sutton Chronicle, in its January 2, 1991 issue, published a chart compiled for the School Committee by Sue Pierce, Business Agent for the Millbury Public Schools, showing the comparison of various town budgets over the past four years. The budget information for the library was incorrect. This chart shows that the library has gained 3.27% in its budget during the past four years. Please note that in September, 1991, the library's FY92 budget was cut from $182,813 to $172,113 or 5.8%. As a result, the cumulative change over the past four years should read -2.69%. Also note that in the past four years, the library has suffered a 30% reduction in its book budget and another 17% loss in its operating budget. The reduction we suffered in September, 1991, was in personnel.

Another Point of View

Term Limits vs Dick Moore

By Lawrence Moore

It is not surprising that our highly respected State Representative, Richard T. Moore, is opposed to Term Limits. What is surprising is his choice of arguments defending his position.

Let it be said in the beginning, that Dick Moore stands out in the General Court as a sincere, well-intentioned, capable and productive Representative of and for his District and for the Commonwealth. His defense of the present system is hard to understand; a system that tolerates second and third rate colleagues, that deprives him of Chairs and Committee assignments, that forces him to kowtow to unprincipled politicians, and that has, year after year, seen his forward-looking proposals for Commonwealth betterment die in Committee.

In a press release of January 6, Moore wrote that he was pleased with his record of achievement in the 1991 session, stating that part of that success could be attributed to his positive working relationship with Republican Governor William F. Weld, "who has courted Moore as a leader of moderate and conservative House Democrats." Calling attention to 13 Moore bills that were passed, he expressed disappointment that 4 others died in the Senate. Moore did not state how many other of his proposals died in the House, but there were many, in 1991, as in the past. Those who have followed his filings year after year know that Massachusetts would be better off today if his efficiency and economy measures had been passed.

Without term limits, his 1993, 1994 and future filings will meet a similar fate, because they are not acceptable to his bureaucracy supporting colleagues, whose own incumbency depends on those who feed from the public trough and on support from the very "bureaucrats, legislative staff and lobbyists" who he says will unduly influence novice officeholders.

Indeed, he writes, "term limits remove precisely those legislators whose judgement and discretion have been put to the test time and time again" ... whose judgement and discretion got us into the mess we're in ... and whose judgement and discretion got them reelected because, using "judgement and discretion", they were obedient to the leadership, responsive to the lobbyists, and tolerant of and reliant on their staffs.

Moore characterizes term limits as undemocratic, saying "Citizens in a democracy should have the widest possible range of choices of potential elected officials."

They should, but under the present undemocratic system, do they? Casting a ballot almost always is an exercise in futility, voting for an unopposed incumbent, a cash-rich incumbent, or a relative unknown.

Moore claims term limits would weaken the role of elected officials "who most closely respond to and serve the will of the voters." Have our Legislatures in the past 10 years responded to or served the voters of Massachusetts? Bright aggressive people like Wofford, Bradley, Glenn and many, many others, novices in politics, have been elected and have done well. So might new bright aggressive people, willing to devote a few years to public service, secure in their desire and ability to do the right thing, rather than to serve the forces that support reelection.

Moore writes about the possibility of less experienced people in public office replacing "experienced people with demonstrated abilities." Again we have to face the actuality: IF INCUMBENTS WITH LONG SERVICE HAVE DONE SO WELL, WHY ARE WE IN THE FIX WE'RE IN, WHY ARE THERE SCANDALOUS REVELATIONS, WHY IS TERM LIMIT FEVER SWEEPING THE COUNTRY?

Moore complains that people don't vote. What choice does our present system give them? What intense debates encourage participation? How many incumbents run unopposed? Might not new faces, new ideas, and new opposition renew the peoples' interest in their Democracy? Moore is right: "Only about half the eligible voters make that effort now"... because it's futile.

Does not that in itself indicate that the present system is faulty? Limiting terms is not a "lazy way" to express dissatisfaction. The term limit movement is an expression of the voter's unhappiness with the status quo, and of a willingness to take back their Democracy from Legislators who have been found wanting. And if that means that good men like Dick Moore will move on and move up, so be it.

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

Board to Consider Retesting

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The January 7 Selectmen's meeting convened at 7:10 P.M. The open portion of the meeting lasted 50 minutes and consisted of reviewing old business items and approving three items of new business prior to moving to executive session.

Retesting

Chase said he spoke with Steve Walinsky, former Chairman of the Resource Recovery Advisory Committee, regarding retesting the air/ground/and vegetation in several areas of town that were initially tested prior to the Wheelabrator incinerator on Route 20 going on line several years ago. The testing was done to establish base line data for comparisons.

Chase said it is expected that the testing would cost about $50,000, according to ERT Engineering who performed the previous tests.

Selectman Roland Lachance asked if Wheelabrator was committed to paying for the testing.

Chase and Selectman Donald Gauthier said Wheelabrator had picked up some of the cost of the base-line testing.

Chairman Jude Cristo asked Chase to have the Resource Recovery Advisory Committee come in to discuss the matter with the Board.

Gauthier suggested that Chase ask the Committee to meet before coming before the Board as he believed they have not met for three years.

Miscellaneous

- Chase reported that Congressman Joseph Early has informed the Town that Millbury will receive $15,208 for recovery damages from the Federal Government relative to clean up costs related to Hurricane Bob.

- The Board received a letter from the State, indicating that an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) will not be required for work to be performed in the right of way being added on Rte 20 in conjunction with improved safety access to the Latti Farm Industrial Park and the proposed jug handle at that location. The state maintains that there will be no significant environmental impact at the site area from the proposed work.

- The Board approved a low bid of $3564.80 from Athol Press for printing the Annual Town Report.

- The Board voted unanimously to seek town counsel's assistance in determining the validity of easements for fire water holes in West Millbury which were approved by a previous Town Meeting. Lachance sponsored the motion after Chase said the Town Treasurer has no record of checks being cut for one dollar to pay the residents for the easements.

- Chase reported that the Personnel Board is still reviewing the issue of the utilization of time clocks for town departments. He said there is some indecision based upon the School Committee's vote, which was against the use of time clocks in the School Department.

Budgets

The selectmen have received budgets from some departments. Cristo suggested that the Board start reviewing them next week before meeting agendas get too heavy.

Selectman Gerry Bleau said the Board should first wait for the Fiscal Responsibility Committee's report.

Gauthier, a member of that Committee, said the report will be available in a couple of weeks.

Center School

Chase noted that the bids for leasing of space at the Center School for educational purposes were scheduled to be opened January 8. The Board has been talking to representatives of Y.O.U., Inc. for several weeks regarding the possibility of their leasing and managing the building.

Bleau said he sat in on discussions with Earl Chase, Town Planner Dave Hulseberg, and Y.O.U., Inc. representatives in December to listen to their proposal. He suggested that the Board discuss strategy prior to meeting with them next week.

Cristo concurred and suggested that as Y.O.U.Inc. will probably be the only bidder, the Board should meet in executive session next Tuesday. He instructed Chase to schedule the agenda for next week with that in mind.

Water Abatement District

Cristo said an offer from the Upper Blackstone Water Abatement District on Rte. 20 for compensation to the Town was not very substantial and reminded him of "Scrooge" in Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

The offer would reduce by 50%, the town's septic waste fees. The offer came in a letter from Charles S. Woodbury, chairman of the district.

The sewerage treatment plant is located in Millbury but pays little to the Town. "The offer is not substantial, obviously," Cristo said. "In fact, it is kind of a disgrace in my opinion based upon all the years they have been here. We will have to look at some other routes to take."

Cristo and Bleau have been attempting to come to some agreement with the Management of the plant for a higher compensation to the Town than the present $1600 given annually in lieu of taxes on the 45-acre parcel. He suggested that he and Bleau meet again to look at other alternatives and report back to the full Board.

Contract Committees

The Board voted 4-1, Gauthier opposed, to name former Personnel Board Chairman Craig Coppola as a third member of the Contract Committees to negotiate with the police, highway and clerical unions. Gauthier said he was opposed because he believes there should be a member of the Personnel Board on each committee to bring forth continuity to the negotiations.

The vote to bring Coppola on is contingent on his acceptance. Cristo said naming Coppola makes sense since he helped to negotiate the last contract. He also noted that each contract committee must come back to the Board prior to final agreement on any negotiations with the three town unions.

Bleau suggested that all town departments involved get their input to the Board and the committees doing the negotiating in advance of meeting with the unions.

Health Insurance Premiums

The Board received a letter from the Chairman of the School Committee informing them that the committee endorsed a recommendation that building level administrators be treated the same as teachers with respect to being reimbursed for a 10% pay deduction for health insurance premiums. The letter noted that the language in the Administrators' "B" Unit contract is the same as that in the teachers' contract.

The Board voted 5-0 to reimburse the building administrators.

Cristo then took issue with statements on the matter attributed to MTA president Tom Murray in the press. He said

Murray could have solved the issue by coming before the Selectmen rather than going to the School Committee. "If he (Murray) has something to say, let him come down here and explain it to us. I was upset at his remarks," Cristo said. He also said the problem was not of the board's making but the legislature's. He said the Board was trying to deal with this issue in an equal manner and suggested that if Murray or any group has any complaints over the issue they should see their legislators.

Chase said he did not include the Administrators in Unit B in the reimbursement because he was not made aware that they were to be included.

Correspondence

A letter was read from the District Attorney's Office that informed the Board of a complaint received indicating an alleged violation of the open meeting law by the Board on October 8, 1991. Assistant D.A. Leon Zitowitz said it was his opinion that the open meeting law was not violated based upon the minutes of that meeting that were provided to him by the Board.

The Board approved reimbursing Forest Fire Warden Tom Nault a sum of $100.00 for time taken off from his regular job to attend a court hearing last October relative to a case involving him as a witness in his capacity as Forest Fire Warden for the Town.

The board received a request from the School Department for two articles totalling $90,000 for the town warrant that seek replacement of two sections of roof at the Junior-Senior High complex.

The Board also received a citizen-petitioned article from Sylvio Bourdeau for inclusion on the town warrant that would ask the town meeting to grant approval for the Parks Department to sign the next lease for Windle Field. The lease is now under the jurisdiction of the School Committee.

Executive Session

At 8:00 P.M., the Board voted unanimously to move to executive session for two consecutive executive session meetings. The first was called, according to Cristo, to meet with the Police Chief and the Board of Health to discuss waste monitoring security procedures, deployment of police security personnel, and a possible criminal complaint.

According to Board of Health members who left the room when the reason was cited by the Chair, they had no knowledge of the reason for the Executive session and were not informed prior to Cristo's announcement. After about five minutes, board members did enter the meeting in executive session with the Board of Selectmen.

The second executive session involved a meeting with Attorney Frank Buendo of Hartford Insurance to discuss issues relating to the Paul Revere Condominium Association's civil suit pending in the Worcester Housing Court against the Town of Millbury and its agents.

On The Shelf

By Rosemary Waltos

The Millbury Public Library stretches beyond its four walls to bring library and information services out into the community. For instance, seniors at Millbury's three apartment complexes have rotating collections of 40 or more books, many in large print format, from the library located in the individual activity rooms. Residents can take these books home to read and return them to their activity room when they are finished. These collections are rotated with the help of volunteer Roland Whiterell every three to four months.

The library also services Pine Grove Villa Nursing Home, Providence Nursing Home and the Millbury Congregate Housing complex with similar collections.

Throughout the year, the library hosts visits from preschool and grade school classes. Kids are introduced to public library collections and services. Library cards are distributed at the same time. Kids in kindergarten through grade six also look forward to an annual spring visit from children's librarian Elaine Loehmann in their classrooms. Ms. Loehmann entertains classes by reading stories, while at the same time describing the library's upcoming summer reading programs.

In February, the library is launching yet another service. This is a home delivery service to shut-ins. If you have a serious illness or handicap that has prevented you from using the library, the library will come to you. How it works is, after discussing your reading interests with a library volunteer, our volunteer will select books that you like and deliver them to your home. Every two weeks a new selection of books will be brought to you and books that are due will be returned to the library. You can request specific titles or books in a particular subject area that the library owns.

If you are interested in our home delivery service or if you are interested in volunteering at the library, call 865-1181 for more information.

St. Brigid's CYC to Present 'Voices from the High School'

MILLBURY - St. Brigid's CYC will present Peter Dee's "Voices from the High School," January 30 and 31, and February 6, 7, and 8 at 8:00 p.m. in the Parish Hall on Main Street.

"Voices from the High School" made its world premiere at the Boston University Theatre Institute in 1982. Dee wrote this play as a composite of vignettes that depict real-life situations in the life of teens. Dee believed that too often, secondary school actors and directors are not given the opportunity to participate in realistic, contemporary teen theatre due to the fact that too few plays are written expressly for them. Baker's Plays commissioned New Dramatists and Circle Rep playwright Peter Dee to write "Voices from the High School" so that teen actors might find the opportunity to share with their fellow students, parents, teachers and administrators, the joys and difficulties of being forced to grow up too fast in America.

Judy Klemesrud of the New York Times wrote of the play, "This is not the usual high school play. Some of the vignettes are devastatingly honest. They might prove too controversial for some (each scene was developed from the standpoint of interviews by teens in modern America). But what is important about this play is the element of truth to which each vignette is portrayed, the element of the 'voice'. It represents the laugh and cry of those desperately wanting to be listened to. And the power of this truth is an awesome responsibility; it gives us hope, changes lives, it lives in a place within each of us forever. 'Voices from the High School' requires a commitment to this truth, and a desire to share it with one's community."

This play is recommended for all audiences and is produced with the permission of Baker's Plays, Boston, MA.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at the end of each Mass at St. Brigid's Parish or at the door the night of each show. Ticket prices are $7.00 for adults, $3.00 for children under 12, and $5.00 for Senior Citizens.

BEACON HILL ROLL CALL

BOSTON - This week's "Beacon Hill Roll Call" records the votes of Senator Matthew Amorello (R-Grafton) and Representatives Richard Moore (D-Uxbridge) and Paul Kollios (D-Millbury) on roll calls from late legislative sessions.

PENSIONS (S 1717, H 6399) - Senate 27-2, House 104-29, overrode Governor Weld's veto of a bill establishing a funding schedule for Chicopee's retirement system. Senate 26-3, House 103-28, then overrode the veto of a similar bill regarding Revere's funding schedule. Supporters said these bills will free up cash to save the jobs of thousands of municipal employees. Opponents said the bills are fiscally irresponsible and argued reduced payments are a short term solution which will result in eventual fiscal chaos. Amorello, Moore, and Kollios voted for the bill on both roll calls.

NEEDLES (S 148) - Senate 22-13, reconsidered its earlier approval of a bill striking sections of current law prohibiting purchase and possession of hypodermic syringes or needles for the administration of controlled substances by injection. Bill supporters said this simply eliminates the requirement that people must have prescriptions to receive clean needles and is a major step in combatting the spread of the AIDS virus through sharing contaminated needles. Opponents said this outright legalization goes too far and will increase drug use. Some said they would support a controlled needle exchange program. Amorello voted for reconsidering approval of the bill.

AUTO INSURANCE (H 6394) - House 99-36, upheld the Speaker's ruling that a proposed substitute bill for the one freezing auto insurance rates for one year, should not be allowed for consideration because it is beyond the scope of the freeze bill. Supporters of the Speaker's ruling said the substitute bill deals with the verbal threshold and other changes and is way beyond the intent of the freeze. Opponents said the freeze is illegal because it has the legislature setting rates and noted the substitute reform bill is within the subject matter and will make true reforms for consumers. Moore did not vote. Kollios voted to support the Speaker's ruling prohibiting consideration of the bill.

AIRPORT (H 2146) - House 119-29, rejected an amendment to the bill restricting development around the Quabbin, Wachusett and Ware reservoirs. The amendment would prohibit construction of a regional metropolitan airport within a ten mile radius of the Wachusett or Quabbin reservoir. On a later vote, the House rejected the same amendment by a slimmer 102-44 margin. Amendment supporters said an airport site five miles from the Wachusett is being considered and argued it would have major adverse effects on the watershed. Opponents said an airport will not threaten the Wachusett. They argued the amendment is unrelated to the bill and is simply an inappropriate vehicle being used by opponents of an airport in the area. Moore voted for the amendment prohibiting an airport on both roll calls. Kollios voted against the prohibition on both roll calls.

LANDFILL (H 2146) - House 75-74, rejected an amendment prohibiting any regional landfill within 2000 feet of the Wachusett or Quabbin reservoirs. Later, the House 87-60, changed its mind and reconsidered its defeat and then on a voice vote approved the amendment. Amendment supporters said landfills attract rats and pollutants and should not be located near the reservoirs. Opponents said the amendment seeks to protect land not within the watershed. They noted the landfill site is downstream form the Wachusett reservoir and argued pollutants wil not flow uphill. (On the first roll call, a "Yea" vote is for the amendment prohibiting a landfill. A "Nay" vote is against the prohibition. On the second, a "Yea" vote is for reconsidering defeat of the prohibition. A "Nay" vote is against the prohibition). Moore and Kollios voted "Yea" on both roll calls.

Project READ Seeking Volunteers

MILLBURY - Five years ago, Project R.E.D. began under the direction of Linda Lariviere, reading specialist at Elmwood Street School. R.E.D. stood for "Read Every Day". In this voluntary program, students in grades one through three read a story at home and then read or told their favorite part to a School Connection volunteer. They were rewarded with a sticker for their folder which was returned to them at the end of the year.

Project READ, an offshoot of Community Reading Day, was replaced by Project R.E.D. this school year by the new reading specialist, Judith Toscano. Project READ involves School Connection volunteers going into each first and second grade classroom once a month on Thursday mornings. The volunteers read various stories selected by the classroom teachers to small groups of students. Project READ is less disruptive to the classroom schedule since the children do not leave their classroom. The children enjoy having guests visit their classrooms and show their appreciation with a spontaneous round of thank-you's and enormous smiles. The volunteers are rewarded with the warmth radiated by these youngsters.

Due to difficult economic times, volunteer work schedules are constantly changing. To maintain this program, substitute readers are sometimes needed. Anyone interested in being added to the list of substitute readers may leave a message for Leslie Vigneau, School Connection Coordinator, at Elmwood Street School, 865-5241.

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

This last week has ben quite rugged in recovery from the chemotherapy. Having undergone seven out of the twelve treatments, my body just doesn't have the recovery capabilities it had at first, so each time gets a little worse. Your continued prayers are much appreciated.

I wasn't up to preaching last Sunday, but one of the ladies of Millbury Baptist Church did an excellent job. I did serve the Communion. Then, I was able to take in several meetings during the week. One of them was our Millbury/Sutton Ecumenical Cluster on Wednesday. We had quite an interesting discussion, which will be continued, on what our purpose is for being. Getting the religious leaders of our several churches together is a task in and of itself, but for me it is well worthwhile just to fellowship with them.

We did acknowledge the worship services we have together at Thanksgiving time and during the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity. This year, there will be a short prayer service each night in each of our respective churches from Saturday, January 18 through the next Saturday, January 25. The listing of these services is in another part of this paper and also in the churches. May I encourage you to take advantage of these eight days of prayer.

There was also discussion of our churches meeting some of the needs of our communities. We understand there are needs for food and clothing even here in our area. Coordination of these efforts is a function we could meet.

Then on Thursday, I attended the Church Women United meeting in my church. This involves layperson's getting together from our various churches, and I noted that I was not the only man in attendance. This, too, was a wonderful experience of our oneness in the Lord Jesus Christ.

We do have our differences as churches, but we do have also so much in common that needs to be emphasized. Jesus prayed that we all might be one, even as He and the Father are one. Amen.

Chizy said the contractors should have the knowledge to remedy problems such as those on Leland Hill and Mclellan Roads. He also cautioned that this problem is the contractor's and no blame should be placed on Blois, Smith or Wharton who have to divide their time to check on the project.

Strieby said the board should rely on town experts, get a concrete recommendation from them, and let the developers know their conclusion.

Blois said that the intention of the contractor is to build the road bed up, crown it so the water can leach out, and put in trenches to carry the drainage water away.

Connor said the board did give Blois, Wharton and Smith the authority to halt construction if the contractors were not doing their job. She added that she voted for the extension because Blois, Wharton and Smith all agreed that it was better to allow the contractors to continue.

Blois said that the three discuss the project daily and the contractors would not be doing any more digging until they get McLellan Road stabilized and mail and newspaper service is restored. But he added that the problem of instability is caused by the freezing and thawing process.

Selectman Rick Labonte said the contractors have been given a list of conditions and, under those conditions, they should not be allowed to proceed further until they have corrected the problems on McLellan Road. He insisted that no new work be done until the conditions are improved on those roads.

Blois answered that he thought that was being done.

Johnson asked the board if they will allow the contractors to continue excavation once the roads that are presently in poor condition are corrected. He said he did not want to do that.

Strieby suggested that the selectmen invite Wharton and Smith to their next meeting and ask them to make a recommendation.

McLellan Road resident James Crosby said the contractor should not be allowed to proceed with the construction until the roads are repaired.

Tucker Lane Bridge

Blois said he heard from a National Guard engineer that there is nothing they can do about the Tucker Lane Bridge because their equipment is not available. He also said from the engineer's inspection of the bridge, indications are that it has been in its present condition for some time and he was not concerned.

Police Chief's Position

Blois told the board that he has received 18 applications for the position of Police Chief. They are being reviewed by the Screening Committee which is made up of Blois; Selectman Dave Strieby; Bill Jernburg, representing the Finance Committee; James Vanderbaan; and Phil Breen.

Blois said each member will review the applications and remove those candidates who do not meet the minimum qualifications. There will then be an interview and assessment process which will narrow the field of candidates to three. There will then be open hearings.

Miscellaneous

- Leona Dona was present to seek removal of a parcel of land on Sibley Road from Chapter 61A for the purpose of constructing a single family home. The board voted unanimously not to exercise their option to purchase the land on a motion from Wally Johnson.

- The board unanimously approved a request to allow the Manchaug American Legion Post to extend the hours for the sale of alcohol for an Ice Fishing Derby on January 25. The Post can begin the sale of alcohol at 9:00 a.m. on that date.

- The board interviewed and unanimously appointed Chris Morosas of Dudley Road to the Earth Removal Board.

Team Sponsorship

Strieby notified the board that the Sutton High School Athletic Department will hold a dinner to honor the Division II State Champion soccer team on Sunday, February 23, at the Dudley Gendron Post. He said that it is the desire of supporters to present each team member with an embroidered jacket, the cost of which is estimated to be around $75. He said supporters are asking for community sponsorship for the jackets which he said would serve as a fitting memento for the team's effort and success.

He asked that anyone in the community contact Athletic Director Vito Filipkowski or Principal Edward Grant at 865-3065.
